SAN FRANCISCO VENUE

INDICTMENT

The Grand Jury charges:

Introductory Allegations

1. American Income Life Insurance Company (“AIL”) was a company headquartered in Texas that sold supplemental life insurance throughout the United States.

2. From in or about 2005 until he was fired in or about April 2012, defendant Behnam HALALI worked as an independent contractor selling AIL life insurance.

3. From in or about 2008 until he was fired in or about January 2012, defendant Ernesto MAGAT worked as an independent contractor selling AIL life insurance.

CM

4. From in or about 2008 until he was fired in or about January 2012, defendant Kraig JILGE worked as an independent contractor selling AIL life insurance.

5. From in or about 2008 until she resigned in or about May 2012, defendant Karen GAGARIN worked as an independent contractor selling AIL life insurance.

6. From in or about 2010 until he was fired in or about April 2012, defendant Alomkone SOUNDARA, a/k/a Alex SOUNDARA, worked as an independent contractor selling AIL life insurance.

7. From in or about June 2009 until in or about February 2012, co-conspirator M.M. worked as an independent contractor selling AIL life insurance.

The Conspiracy and the Scheme to Defraud

8. From in or about September 2011, through in or about February 2012, the defendants, HALALI, MAGAT, JILGE, GAGARIN, and SOUNDARA, did knowingly and willfully conspire and agree with each other, and with other persons known and unknown to the Grand Jury, to devise, participate in, and execute a scheme to defraud AIL, and to obtain money from AIL by means of materially false and fraudulent pretenses, representations, and promises, and by omitting and concealing material facts. The defendants executed the scheme by, among other things, submitting applications for life insurance on behalf of individuals who did not know that a policy was applied for or issued in their name and/or did not want a life insurance policy, and then shared the commissions and bonuses issued by AIL in connection with those fraudulent policies.

Manner and Means of the Scheme

9. Among the manner and means by which the defendants and their co-conspirators carried out this conspiracy were the following:

a. The defendants and their co-conspirators paid recruiters to find individuals who were willing to take a medical exam in exchange for approximately $100. The defendants and their co-conspirators then took the personal information associated with those individuals and submitted applications for life insurance in their names, in many cases without the individual's knowledge;

b. The defendants and their co-conspirators paid individuals to participate in a fictitious survey of a medical exam company, and then took the personal information associated with those individuals and submitted applications for life insurance, in many cases without the individual's

1 knowledge;

2 c. The defendants and their co-conspirators solicited their family and friends to
3 submit applications for life insurance, and told them that they would receive free life insurance for 4 several months after which the policies would be cancelled;

5 d. In some cases, the defendants and their co-conspirators created fraudulent driver's
6 licenses so they could take medical exams purporting to be the individuals in the applications;

7 e. The defendants and their co-conspirators opened hundreds of bank accounts to 8 fund the premiums on the fraudulent policies, and typically paid between one to four months of 9 premiums before letting the policies lapse;

10 f. The defendants and their co-conspirators purchased pre-paid telephones and set
11 up Google Voice telephone numbers for phone numbers listed on the fraudulent applications;

12 g. The defendants and their co-conspirators returned verification calls to AIL
13 purporting to be the applicants on the fraudulent applications, and confirmed the information in the 14 fraudulent applications;

15 h. The defendants and their co-conspirators listed addresses of gas stations and 16 apartment complexes on many of the fraudulent applications in an effort to avoid detection, and 17 fabricated the names of the beneficiaries of the policies; and

18 i. The defendants and their co-conspirators exchanged emails in which they tracked 19 the telephone numbers and bank accounts associated with the fraudulent policies.

20 10. As a result of this fraudulent scheme, the defendants and their co-conspirators caused 21 AIL to pay more than $2.5 million in commissions and bonuses for fraudulent life insurance policies.
